Slow Wine

The annual Slow Wine guide, published by Slow Food Editore, adopts a new approach to wine criticism: not only reviews and organoleptic descriptions but a real wine storytelling where the deep and direct knowledge of the wine companies is the one and only protagonist. We visit all cellars and take into consideration the wine quality, adherence to terroir, value for money and give greater weight and importance to the estates' production methods. Through the guide and international tour we support and promote small-scale Italian winemakers who are using traditional techniques, working with respect for the environment, and safeguarding the incredible biodiversity of grape varieties that are part of Italy's heritage.

I Vini del Piemonte

I Vini del Piemonte is a consortium of promotion that includes some 200 Piedmontese wine companies. The aim is to promote and communicate in the best way possible the richness and peculiarities of the different Piedmontese wine designations. Every year, the consortium organizes more than 30 promotional initiatives in different countries around the world.

Meaning of the partnership between Slow Wine and I Vini del Piemonte

Slow Food started out almost thirty years ago in Piedmont. Despite the exponential growth of members worldwide and the huge spread of Carlo Petrini's ideas, its headquarters remain in Bra, a small Piedmontese town. Its heart still beats in Piedmont and the first events were centred on the wine of this region. Slow Food believes that wine, just as with food, must be "good, clean, and fair"—not just good. Wine is an agricultural product, just like any of the foods we eat, and has an impact on the lives of the people who produce it, as well as on the environment—through pesticides, herbicides and excessive water consumption which are all commonplace in conventional wine production.

Our family-run estate is located on the renowned Loreto Aprutino hills, under the Apennines' highest mountain, the Gran Sasso, and just 20 km from the Adriatic Sea. In a celebrated fresco in town representing the Judgment Day, the "torre dei beati" (tower of the blessed) is the final goal that the souls try to reach through hard trials. For us, that's a metaphor for the hard selection that all our grapes have to overcome before resulting in our wines. We have been certified organic since 1999, and we only grow the native traditional grape varieties Montepulciano, Pecorino and Trebbiano. All our bottles come from our 21-hectare vineyard.

Cantine del Notaio, in the green heart of Basilicata, has been dedicating its commitment to explore all the potential of Aglianico del Vulture making a great research on this indigenous variety grape that groves here at its best thanks to a combination of temperatures (a big difference in degrees during summer season between the day and the night and very high temperatures due to hot air coming from Africa), lack of rain (no rainfall for 2 months in summer season), a good exposition of the vineyards and the rich volcanic soil (the presence of a common tufa volcanic layer under the soil that feed the plants, in local dialect “u tuf c’allatt”). The winery owns 50 acres of vineyards on the most vocated hillsides of the Vulture area in 5 different municipalities.

Grifalco was founded in 2004 by the desire of Fabrizio and Cecilia Piccin to start a new path after having produced Nobile di Montepulciano for 20 years, focusing on what is considered the most important grape variety in southern Italy; the project is currently carried out by their sons Lorenzo and Andrea. The winery has a surface of 16 hectares with age of the vineyards ranging from 10 years up to 80 years, divided into several municipalities of the Vulture area, and that's because, being able to work with different soils, allows you to have greater complexity in the wines that are produced. To date, about 75 thousand bottles of only Aglianico del Vulture are produced, a precise choice that allows you to focus on just one vine and work on its nuances. The vineyards are located in the municipalities of Maschito, Forenza, Ginestra and Venosa, where the cellar also resides.

It all began when Felice, a cattle breeder who had moved to France to explore the hidden mysteries of the transalpine tradition, decided to undertake a long journey back to Italy, collecting encounters, experiences, and flavors rooted in centuries of history. As he arrived in Piacenza, Felice noticed the potential of the Emilian valleys and decided to stop here to experiment with winemaking techniques he learned during his journey. Interpreting fruits and flavors became a means of expression. Felice founded the winery under the ancient Castle of Momeliano, a fortress almost one thousand years old. The constant temperature of the castle's cellars was ideal for the aging of fine wines.

Marangona is first of all Alessandro Cutolo, the mind and operative soul of the company, a figure who has been able to update the company in a personal and distinctive way over the years and, in part, the entire Lugana name. Alessandro is the interpreter of a reading of his territory that does not give way to compromises and easy commercial escape routes, as we have seen for some time now in wines, punctual, expressive, played on verticality. The style is clear and at the same time evolving: it leaves room for exalting the tannins of turbiana, with slight maceration, use of cement, attempts at evolution in amphora and an increase in the aging time in bottle.

Pasini is our surname, and San Giovanni is the name of the farm at Puegnago where our adventure as wine producers began. The first person in the family to be involved, in 1958, was Andrea Pasini. Today we continue to be a family business, with our feet firmly planted in the earth and with, in our minds, the wine that grandad Andrea's made: good, healthy and the product of his own vines. Pasini San Giovanni is the name of our professional home, made up of people and places that are inseparably interlinked. The colors of the vineyards, of our olive trees, of the bees, of the flowers and the many natural substances that are part and parcel of our estate are indicators of biodiversity, which we think is the way to improve the land we care for and promote a harmonious and healthy environment.

Selva Capuzza is a small farm dedicated to producing wines exclusively from 6 indigenous grape varieties. The Estate is located 4 km south of Lake Garda's coast in a very precious area where three wine appellations overlap each other: Garda Classico, San Martino della Battaglia and Lugana. Here the climate is gentle, and moderated by the lake, there are many olive trees, a wood which was an old truffle plantation, wide open spaces dedicated to biodiversity, a park with mulberry trees. As you walk this diverse property, you will discover the winery in the center, surrounded by vineyards, meadows, the truffle plantation with its oaks, hornbeams and willows, the restaurant Cascina Capuzza, and agriturismo Borgo San Donino. Deep and constant care is dedicated to keep CO<sub>2</sub> emissions and pollution at the lowest level through a very rich combination of sustainable and holistic practices.

Tenuta Mazzolino is a story of passion, dedication, but above all of great love for the vineyard and its tradition. The story of the Mazzolino Tenuta began about forty years ago with my grandfather Enrico when, on one of his travels, he was seduced by this land that everyone already called “the Pinot Noir hill.” Two of his great friends, Luigi Veronelli and Giacomo Bologna helped him to embark on this journey; they noticed right away the potential of the white, chalky lands surrounding the winery, land that the French had discovered had a vocation for Pinot Noir back in the mid-19th century. In the meantime, my mother, Sandra, had thrown herself with her usual determination that distinguished her into running the winery and never missed an opportunity to take me with her to Mazzolino.

Borgogno is the most historical winery in Barolo, since 1761. The protagonist was Cesare Borgogno, who decided in 1920 to forget half of Barolo Riserva production in the cellar and selling it almost 20 years later. The result is a largest collection of the greatest vintages of Barolo, and since this intuition, the most important Borgogno tradition began, getting rich over the time by three historical crus in Barolo: Cannubi, Liste, Fossati, which are Barolo single-vineyards. Wines are made in full respect of tradition: long and spontaneous fermentation in concrete and long aging in large Slavonian oak barrels. We cultivate our vineyards in Barolo, Madonna di Como and Colli Tortonesi for the Timorasso. Since 2019 we have the certification of organic agriculture.

For four generations, Ca' del Baio has been a family affair, as is the tradition in the Langhe. Nurtured and passed down from father to son, the vineyards surrounding the Grasso family farmhouse have been added to over time through marriage and acquisitions. Today it is Giulio and Luciana who, together with their daughters Paola, Valentina and Federica, handle all the various areas of the business with passion and expertise, from the growing and vinification of the grapes, to hospitality and wine sales.

Young small winery located in Monforte d'Alba who makes focused and precise wines. It is the young owner Maurizio Sanso, assisted by his parents Silvana and Leonardo and by his sister Lorena, to carry out the tradition of his grandparents, who originally worked in the farmstead as sharecroppers. Dedicating the best care to the vine plants, precious and straightforward grapes are harvested and, during the vinification phase, are processed to bring out the intrinsic characteristics of each vine. Finally, with aging, the Cascina Sòt wines are further embellished, acquiring valuable tertiary hints

Today Contratto is one of the most important producer of Alta Langa D.o.c.g. and an ambassador for the entire appellation. The splendid Contratto wine Cathedral was entirely excavated by hand. These cellars are an evocative place, rich in history and set the scene for the long bottle aging of Contratto's Alta Langa D.o.c.g. A glass of Alta Langa tells the story of the great potential of the Piedmontese hills. In terms of Metodo Classico, Contratto's objective is to showcase the fundamental role the vineyards play. "Good wine is made in the vineyard," of this the Rivetti family is convinced.

La Spinetta was founded by Pin and Lidia Rivetti, expert farmers with huge appreciation and knowledge for tradition and interest in the future. In the '77, Carlo, Bruno, Giorgio, and Giovanna took over the winery reins, working to implement the teachings of their parents, great respect for the territory, for the indigenous vines and for the land. This is when the first production of single-cru Moscato began. With the success of our Moscato business, we decided to branch out and focus on red grapes as Barbera and Nebbiolo. The first Barbaresco was Gallina 1995, followed by Stardereri '96 and finally Valeirano '97. In 2001 a new winery was built in Tuscany; they wanted the challenge of working in a different territory with different indigenous grape varieties, such as Sangiovese. The latest adventure began '18 by acquiring some hectares within Tortona hills, Piedmont, to produce Timorasso.

DonnaLia is a winery situated in the province of Biella, Northern Piedmont, resting on the Moraine hills of the Serra of Ivrea in San Secondo, Salussola, with vineyards positioned 300 meters above sea level. The winery falls within the area of the Canavese DOC, which greatly benefits from the microclimate of the nearby Lake Viverone, who's excellent sun exposure and unusual glacial soil assists the overall growing process. The wines of the Canavese share common characteristics. All are influenced by a mild temperature, combined with the constant benefit of general ventilation from the nearby Valdostan Alps and by strong diurnal/nocturnal thermal excursions especially during the pre-harvest period.

Genio knew how to recognize the great value of this land where poverty and misery reigned. Thanks also to our mother Marisa who, together with father Bruno, ran the company. In 1999 the company took my name and in those years my dream became reality. Today I'm a wine producer thanks to the sacrifices of my grandfather and my parents. I have always believed in Moscato, even when Moscato was considered the last of the wines. Today I produce more than 60,000 bottles and I receive awards every year: I followed the right path.

Pian delle Querci is a family concern managed. We do not use herbicides because we take out weeds from the ground many times. We treat the Vineyard with copper in chippings, diluted with water, lime and sulphur, according to ancient customs. We do not use fertilizer but only organic manure. We apply this philosophy of life also to what we eat at home, just wholesome products, as we believe to find how our animals are fed on our plate and our work in the Vineyard and in the cellar in our glass. No kind of leaven is used in the cellar, controlled fermentations are very long and made in stainless steel vats, then wine is put in 50 hectolitre Slavonia oak casks. Our wines are the outcome of what the earth, in this area, can give.

Today is Moritz Rogosky who leads the winery, with the presence of his mother Bettina and the support of Marco Maffei in the fields and in the wine cellar. Late harvests bring sugars, acidity and polyphenols to perfect completion. Long macerations for both whites and reds and spontaneous fermentations are essential for preserving the identity of a territory. “Unicorn wines” from the volcanic island of Lipari, somewhere a little bit North the Eastern side of Sicily, in the Mediterranean sea. That’s what Tenuta di Castellaro has been doing over the last 15 years after repropagating ancient varieties such as Corinto Nero and Malvasia delle Lipari, all tended in organic protocols and with the alberello system. The Castellaro bioenergetic cellar is disposed on three levels and takes advantage of gravity, sun and the proverbial Aeolian winds for the production of wines that speak a language that is both ancient and contemporary at the same time. Daniele Sassi, long time collaborator, is in town for the show.

The historic wine cellars of Fontanavecchia: A temple dedicated to wine, to the hard work of man, to the enchantment of the slow and delicate rhythms that have entwined the lives of a family of winegrowers for generations. Built by the founder of the Rillo family, beginning in the 19th century and later restored and enlarged, today this is one of the outstanding wine-producing facilities of the Campania region. The Fontanavecchia company expands over an area of 18 hectares in the homonymous district of Torrecuso in the province of Benevento; it is managed attentively by Libero Rillo, with additional experience provided his father Orazio and his brother Giuseppe.

We are in Montefalco , land of oil and Sagrantino , exactly in Casale: it is here that the approximately 50 hectares of vineyards owned by the Becca family meet. This is how in the heart of green Umbria , after having bought the land and after having planted the vineyards, the construction of a modern cellar began, perfectly integrated into the surrounding environmental context. Among the rows, as well as obviously sagrantino plants , there are also varieties of Sangiovese , Colorino , Trebbiano Spoletino and Grechetto . In any case vines grown in full respect of the environment, nature and ecosystem.

In 1881 Tommaso Schiavoni Tafuri, a wealthy landowner from Manduria, a prosperous town in Salento Puglia, married Countess Sabini, from Altamura. The noblewoman brought Primitivo's rooted cuttings as a dowry (the rooted cutting is a grafted vine cutting), which were planted in Cuturi, in the fertile Conca D'Oro. In 2007, when we arrived, the Masseria no longer had any vineyards. Our family decides to give it back the prestige and glory of the past, with a tenacious growth path. To date, the vineyards are 40 hectares compared to the original 100.

Sustainability pioneers, TILIA Wines were the first to carry the certified sustainable seal from Bodegas de Argentina on the label. Today, TILIA is the first wine label to illustrate the path toward sustainability in Argentina. TILIA winery is located in Junín, Mendoza, Argentina and all grapes are sustainably farmed and sourced from the Uco Valley, the Eastern and the Central regions of Mendoza. A desert mountain region, Mendoza is sheltered from oceanic influence by the Andes. With temperature averaging between 75F-45F and rainfalls of only 8-12 inches per year (mostly in the summer), the dry continental climate and well drained alluvial soils facilitate sustainable agriculture and are ideal for growing healthy, concentrated, and ripe fruits.

Region: Mexico
Valle del Tigre, Tamaulipas

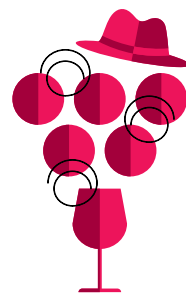

Contact Person: Aldo Quesada Lucero

Importer: Beso Imports

The winery and their vineyards are located in Valle del Tigre approximately 2 miles from the Pacific Ocean. All red grapes are sourced from their estate vineyards. Valle del Tigre – Estate vineyards planted in 2006 at an elevation of 850 ft - (Tempranillo, Nebbiolo, Merlot, Malbec, Mission, Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Syrah, Sauvignon Blanc, Chenin Blanc, Muscato). This is a winery unto itself in a valley that runs almost parallel to the Pacific, lying just beyond the first ridgeline that separates the land from the ocean. Soil is a combination of clay, sand and river rocks and a substantial amount of organic matter. The tenderness and wholeness with which Aldo tends to this estate cannot be condensed into words on a screen but suffice it to say that if there is a spiritual version of farming, this is it.

We use four basic processes executed with zero technological intervention - pressed by foot, inviting wild fermentation with no industrial yeast or sugars added, macerated in buried clay vessels and hand pressed with rustic utensils. Our wine is fermented for up to 9 months in buried clay pots molded by local San Felipe and Dolores Hidalgo artisans. The process of sourcing these vessels brought about the revival of ancestral methods of making pottery - a tradition almost lost in time in a compromise for a quicker way of making pottery that satisfies mass demand. We have tried to recreate the classic Georgian kvevri form, and ended up with a hybrid that has a particular Mexican imprint.

Sashi Moorman and his wife Melissa started Piedrasassi in 2003 as a bakery utilizing heritage wheat and a winery specializing in Syrah. To Moorman, Piedrasassi exists because of his love for elegant, cool climate Syrah. Now, with climate change, fewer people get that style even in France. So, his beautiful wines exist in small release, well-known to a Syrah intelligentsia.

Of the collaborations of Sashi Moorman and Raj Parr, Sandhi Wines may be the most significant because the two believe that the brightest shining star of the Sta Rita Hills is, wait for it... Chardonnay, not Pinot Noir. So, production is structured on exceptional, value-driven Chardonnay with which they intend to lead the region into the future. This said, Sandhi takes Pinot Noir no less seriously.

Troon is a showcase for regenerative organic and biodynamic farming, developing a healthy ecosystem with diverse crops and excellent wines. The winery is a leader in regenerative and biodynamic farming, as well as an innovator in exploring the potential of lesser known grape varieties growing in popularity. Founded in 1972 by the late Dick Troon, it's now owned by Bryan and Denise White, who hired general manager Craig Camp to go organic and biodynamic as well as to diversify into permaculture crops with farm and biodynamic consultant Andrew Beede.
